We are delighted to welcome a number of new headteachers, who are taking up post this term (or moving from one school in the diocese to another or taking up executive headships). We are asking Church schools to complete a survey so that we can find out whether you found the guidance helpful, or support you think is required. The survey can be completed here:

https://content.scriptureunion.org.uk/resource/new

For up to date information on the latest resources and training events please visit our website:

https://www.scriptureunion.org.uk

It is now over a year since the publication of It's Your Move, which is a resource helping schools to support children who are moving from primary to secondary school. More than 18,000 children have signed up from all over the country to use It's Your Move, which is now available online. It's Your Move is a complete programme helping them to manage their move and those who have made it in the recent past. There are practical tips and tools for children that make the move, as well as useful information and advice for children and young people experiencing family separation including family court proceedings.

The Family Justice Young People's Board (FJYPB) is a group of children and young people who are or have been separated from their families, sharing their experiences of the family justice system and making suggestions to improve it for all. They meet regularly to discuss issues affecting children and young people, and to plan activities for those who wish to get involved. They have produced ‘It’s Your Move’, a resource designed to support children and young people in making the transition from primary school to secondary school. The FJYPB is made up of helpful young people aged between 10 and 18 years old, including young people who are or have been separated from their families and young people who work directly with children and young people, of how children and young people experience the family justice system or have an interest in children’s rights.

Recently the FJYPB produced a new five-point plan for the improvement of family justice in England and Wales. This plan was produced in response to a large consultation with children and young people, which highlighted to them how lucky they are to have the things they need to go to school just like me! This talk to if they are finding things difficult. The FJYPB has also produced a family court information and advice poster, which is available for schools to display. Based on their own experiences, members of the FJYPB have produced useful to them.

Research has been carried out by the FJYPB to find out how much information young people in England and Wales have and where they get it from. The FJYPB members would like to encourage schools to display this poster, which will help to signpost children and young people involved in the family justice system and their families, to services that can assist them to find out how much information young people in England and Wales have and where they get it from.

In addition, the FJYPB has also produced a new poster which is available for schools to display. This poster will help to signpost children and young people involved in the family justice system and their families, to services that can assist them to find out how much information young people in England and Wales have and where they get it from.

It is now over a year since the publication of It's Your Move, which is a resource helping schools to support children who are moving from primary to secondary school. More than 18,000 children have signed up from all over the country to use It's Your Move, which is now available online. It's Your Move is a complete programme helping them to manage their move and those who have made it in the recent past. There are practical tips and tools for children that make the move, as well as useful information and advice for children and young people experiencing family separation including family court proceedings.

The Family Justice Young People's Board (FJYPB) is a group of children and young people who are or have been separated from their families, sharing their experiences of the family justice system and making suggestions to improve it for all. They meet regularly to discuss issues affecting children and young people, and to plan activities for those who wish to get involved. They have produced ‘It’s Your Move’, a resource designed to support children and young people in making the transition from primary school to secondary school. The FJYPB is made up of helpful young people aged between 10 and 18 years old, including young people who are or have been separated from their families and young people who work directly with children and young people, of how children and young people experience the family justice system or have an interest in children’s rights.

Recently the FJYPB produced a new five-point plan for the improvement of family justice in England and Wales. This plan was produced in response to a large consultation with children and young people, which highlighted to them how lucky they are to have the things they need to go to school just like me! This talk to if they are finding things difficult. The FJYPB has also produced a family court information and advice poster, which is available for schools to display. Based on their own experiences, members of the FJYPB have produced useful to them.

Research has been carried out by the FJYPB to find out how much information young people in England and Wales have and where they get it from. The FJYPB members would like to encourage schools to display this poster, which will help to signpost children and young people involved in the family justice system and their families, to services that can assist them to find out how much information young people in England and Wales have and where they get it from.

In addition, the FJYPB has also produced a new poster which is available for schools to display. This poster will help to signpost children and young people involved in the family justice system and their families, to services that can assist them to find out how much information young people in England and Wales have and where they get it from.